We bill ourselves as an Election Integrity initiative and have found it strikes the right tone.

But there is an another narrative that needs to be developed to expose the calculated transfer of power away from the individual voter and to the government. We have crafted a Voters' Bill of Rights that we believe will be a powerful tool to remind all voters that they have rights that the government cannot take from them (though by all appearances, they are going to try). Too much to go into here, but suffice to say that we are rolling out this effort at our upcoming summit. We will have many Secretaries of State in attendance, along with our governor, Rick Perry. The plan is to ask them to sign the Voters' Bill of Rights at the Summit. Right now, the document is being hashed out by all the involved parties to make sure everyone is comfortable with it. Once we get a final I will forward to Groundswell. Also, please everyone, come to our Summit if you can, to be held on April 12-13, in Houston, Texas. This year we are focusing on "The Power of Citizen Engagement" - how to use 2013 as a nationwide team building year for bigger and better citizen led election integrity groups in 2014. We have put together a fantastic line-up of speakers, many of whom are brand new voices to the movement.

Highlights include:

- discussion panels with Secretaries of State from across the nation
- Voto Honesto, our Latino outreach program, featuring presentations by Dr. Victor Guerra, Director of Mexico's Institute of Federal Elections and former US Treasurer Rosario Marin
- messages from outstanding young American leaders, including Bethany Bowra and Cesar Ruiz, on the power of engaging the youth electorate
- the roll out of a new, national Voters' Bill of Rights
- new True the Vote programs and plans for 2013 and beyond
- presentations by fellow Groundswellers; Anita MonCrief, Tom Fitton, and John Fund

More info on all the speakers and the program is available at www.truethevotessummit.com

If any Groundsweller wants to attend I will comp registration, just please let me know directly because security is tight so you will need credentials are ready and waiting for you.

How about "Election Integrity"?

We need to reframe this. The narrative of the Left has already taken hold in MD. The words "Voter ID" are already lost & equated with racism. Maybe a "free & fair elections initiative" with a heavy emphasis on avoiding ANY voter disenfranchisement combined with an identification requirement which includes a broader range of documents.

Phil Kiko is the staff director of the House Committee who, I think, has jurisdiction over elections. He used to work for Sensenbrenner at House Judiciary. He should be on a working team for this with you all.

Who else are key working group members on ELECTION LAW, ELECTION REFORM and THE LEFT'S NARRATIVES, Groundswell???

Yeah, and Mr. Bauer (the Yin to Ginsberg's Yang in the new Czardom that is Election Oversight) loves True the Vote.

Check this out: It's an internal memo given to us by a source that worked inside the Obama/Biden campaign.
<http://www.scribd.com/doc/116868301/Bauer-Memo?secret_password=mfowdj42tek29uxpmhv> Notice the author is none other than Mr. Bauer. We've never really gone public with the memo - though we posted it some time ago.

We invited both Mssrs. Bauer and Ginsberg to speak at our upcoming Summit, but they both quickly declined.

And in totally unrelated news...check out these new developments: George Soros to Give $1 Million to NAACP to Fight Voter ID Laws <<http://nation.foxnews.com/soros/2013/03/26/hy-times-george-soros-give-1-million-naacp-fight-voter-id-laws>> and Project Vote releases Election Legislation 2013: Threats and Opportunities Assessment<<http://projectvote.org/images/publications/Threats%20and%20Opportunities/Legislative%20Threats%20Opportunities-March%202013-1.pdf>>

If any of you capable Groundswellers would be interested in developing a narrative that points out the dangers of this new commission and the influence of special interests, True the Vote would be glad to provide material and comment. This is a fast moving undercurrent that has the capacity to wipe out fair elections before 2016, maybe even '14.

For any who are concerned about elections and voting, don't worry; Obama has addressed it in a new Executive Order, out today.
